advocates women's rights, social fairness and equal opportunity. It is a celebration of women from all spheres who endorse these aims and make a difference. An example and role model for future generations of young women, our nominees lead by example, are accommodating and flexible by nature, yet strong and immovable on points of principle.

Ingrid Bergman

"I was the shyest human ever invented, but I had a lion inside me that wouldn't shut up!"

A fearless independence that sprang from her total disregard for her amazing beauty, innate bearing and both praise and criticism alike, gave this three time Academy Award winner a universal attraction for men and women. Swedish born, she was America's Sweetheart until her unfettered emotions led her into an affair with Roberto Rossellini, (whom she married), and she fell out of favor with that 'perfect world' of the Forties and Fifties. Puritanism thankfully is fickle and she later regained their love to win Oscars, Emmys, Tonys, Golden Globes and a host of other awards. She once remarked that although she continued to love all her families—she was married three times—her real love was acting.

NICOLE MORRIS

is a NYC-based lifestyle and brand change agent specializing in the connective tissue of business development, the power of story and emotional touch points. She works with companies dedicated to conscious and communal advancements in the healthcare, beauty and wellness arenas. Nicole is also the event director for New York Moves magazine and a board member of Tournesol Wellness, an integrative medical and healing arts facility. Nicole holds a degree in Theatre, Music and Film Study and continues to use the power of storytelling through her artwork as an intuitive painter and voiceover artist.

LEAH BONNEMA

Stand-up comic Leah Bonnema is based in New York City and has been featured on AXS TV's Gotham Comedy Live, IFC's Comedy Crib, TruTV's Comedy Knockout, Elite Daily's Schlep and Why It's Ok To Be A Single Girl On Valentine's Day, Above Average's The Henkle Factor with Michael Che, Vh1's 100 Greatest series, VProud's You're Not Crazy and is a regular on SiriusXM Radio. Huffington Post named her one of their Favorite Female Comedians. Bonnema hails from Maine and received her degree from McGill University in Montreal and has had the honor of performing with the USO overseas.

ROBERTA BATTAGLIA

Roberta Battaglia is a second-generation Italian-Canadian. Starting her singing career at the age of three, Roberta has graced many stages—from local community performances to the stages of America's Got Talent.

EMANNE BEASHA

Born in Amman, Jordan in 2008, Emanne is an American-Jordanian classical singer who made her big break by winning the 2017 Arabs Got Talent at the age of nine. In 2019, Emanne made her debut on America's Got Talent and has gone on to do great things, such as performing opera in Nevada and starring on a television show in Germany.

DANELIYA TULESHOVA

Daneliya was first recognized for her talent in the Children's New Wave, an international contest for young performers held annually in Russia. From here, Daneliya has taken part in many talent competitions internationally, those of which include America's Got Talent. She announced in February 2020 that she is to launch a new music project soon under the name "Da NeL."

This past year has proven that we need to rely on one another and lend a helping hand. During the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic in March, insurance giant Aflac sprung into action, partnering with Columbus, Georgia-based non-profit Feeding The Valley Food Bank to ensure that children do not go hungry during these difficult times. Individuals from Aflac's Columbus campus have committed themselves to charity, packing food items for distribution to children in need. Why did Aflac do this? Simply because they care.

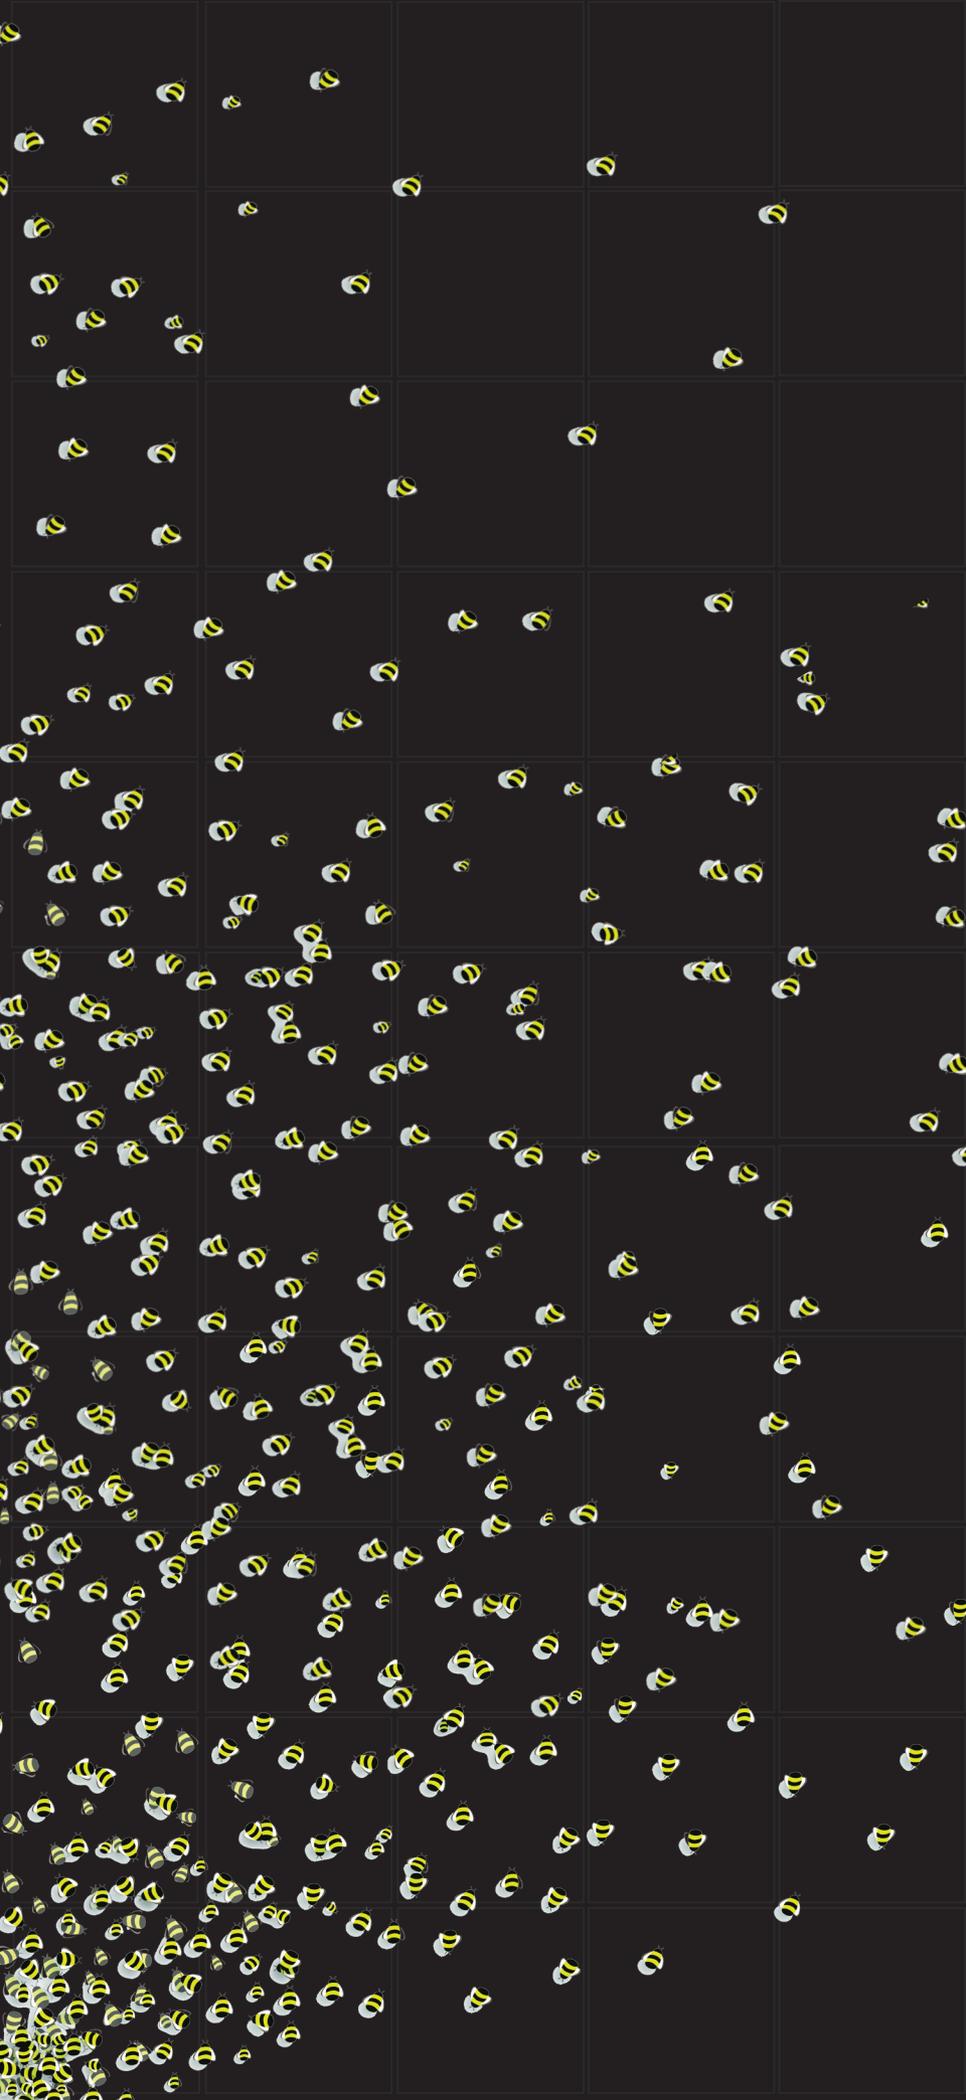

Each week, Feeding The Valley delivers pallets of non-perishable food and drink items to Aflac's Columbus campus. Working within social distancing and safety guidelines, on-campus employees with Aflac's Facilities team rotate each day packing the items into individual bags, called Buddy Packs. Feeding The Valley picks up the bags and, through teachers, churches, and other partners, has them delivered privately to approximately 1,500 students each week. Since October 12, Aflac childhood cancer campaign.

Aflac employees have packed approximately 26,000 Buddy Packs for Feeding the Valley. Plans are to continue the partnership.

Although Aflac's charity during the 2020 pandemic is notable, it is not uncharacteristic of the company. Time and time again, through the years, Aflac has proven to be a compassionate and humanitarian organization. What their altruism proves is that Aflac is not only the leader in voluntary insurance sales, or even 'that company with the iconic white duck,' but also a company that will always be there in our times of need.

Mother Earth

I Won't Recycle.
Our cars don't pollute.
Will the Glaciers still be there?
I can't believe it.

Conjunctions, Negations, alliterations,
All to describe this soul we're taking.
Mother Earth.

She, not he, birthed this.
The waves we crave,
The wings that brave the winds
Soaring above the clouds
How—did we let this happen?

This genocide of creatures
Your daughters' teachers can only
Talk about because the field trip to the zoo was Cancelled due to extinction.

One question. No answer,
Mankind is a cancer to our home
The only place we've ever known
To rest our feet and let us breathe
Free to roam.

And too soon we were trapped in
A vicious cycle of destroy and rebuild
That we could not break the habit or yield long enough

To step back and examine the detriment
We created to a world that mated
Birds with trees
Flowers with bees—
Bees.

There is no time
To save them.
Bees will die.

And flowers will choke on their own pollen,
That sweet fragrant nectar
Polluting the air.
We will miss allergy season
When roses are scarce.
